MrMcclaughry
2 hours ago

Virginia here - November 11 2025. @rottingjewels

As Emeril on his cooking show used to say: Let's take things up a notch.

This is a photo of NOT my child supposedly dying in a hospital ICU. Mothers know their child, and me perhaps even more so due to my more specialized observation skills.

There are many things wrong with this photo. The head shape. Not my child. The nose is off. Not my child. The ears are off. Not my child. The eyes, the eyebrows, the lips, the teeth, the jawline, all off. Not my child. Perhaps even more damning is what is MISSING that should be there.

For the first time today, something was now right and correct to do. So I did.

I put this photo into 4 different AI facial recognition/ photo comparison programs today, compared with photos I know for a fact ARE my child. Facial shape, dimensions, age and even sex came up as completely wrong in some of the comparisons - that's how BAD this photo is.

This photo was first (or last, depending) presented by someone together with a supposed "death" announcement of my child on July 9, 2024. A sudden and unexpected "death".

This photo was first (or last, depending) presented by someone together with a supposed "death" announcement of my child on July 9, 2024. A sudden and unexpected "death".

The sequence leading up to that was SOMEONE went into the hospital on June 22 2023, and it was so sudden and weird that two of her sisters didn't believe me when I pointed out that it had been announced on my daughter's X account that she was on the way to the ER.

Where SOMEONE was intentionally killed, apparently.

Creating a "death" that isn't - not my child.

Questions that should be asked -

Just how complicit was this? Was every part of it, texts, x posts, other social media posts, photographs, the involvement of another of my children, by the way, ALL a complete fakery simply trying to hide the fact that my child had been rescued right out from under everybody's noses - like I had asked for?

Or...

Was the person real that went into the hospital and died? Were they a clone to throw everyone off? Whose? Or was it just some random person pronounced as dead and thrown into the cremation fire with no autopsy, presumably?

Or...

Was the person real that went into the hospital and died? Were they a clone to throw everyone off? Whose? Or was it just some random person pronounced as dead and thrown into the cremation fire with no autopsy, presumably?

What I do know, is that photo is not my child. Not in any way, shape, or form. Hell, even the spirits within are wrong - as my husband Mike pointed out when seeing that photo in July 2023.

Remember what I said here on November 9, 2025.
https://www.youtube.com/post/UgkxhbBD...

"Dana's son is who pulled off what you could call the op of the millenium. He rescued our daughter from certain death and took her somewhere safe.

WITH NO ONE THE WISER."

So, one more for the road -

Would @rottingjewels like to help us blow ALL of this out in the open? I don't know, she refused me before, when I asked in private text. Not a good look I must say. Big red flag. Oopsie.

But, dumb old crazy nobody me (ha) I have this reall "bad" habit of not giving up so...

For the children. I will ask again -

What say you Dana? What's your courage level

But, dumb old crazy nobody me (ha) I have this really "bad" habit of not giving up so...

For the children. I will ask again -

What say you Dana? What's your courage level really like? Care to take a break from mucking about in the past and do something far more dangerous, far more damning, far more a precursor of what is to come, as "the long game" ends?